

Meet the other guys

Two Mt. Vernon Republicans want to be your next state representative

By Michael Broihier

There are four Republicans filed for the 80th District Representative's seat; David Meade and Jerry Shelton are from Lincoln County and are well known locally; they will be profiled in a later edition of The Interior Journal, but the other two are from Mt. Vernon and not well-known in the county.

Roger Coldiron, Retired Navy Captain

Roger Coldiron, 60, was born in Berea and said, "The other candidates will say, 'I was born and raised here,' but I like to say I am a resident of the area by choice, not just birth." Coldiron left Kentucky in the 70s to pursue a career in the US Navy and returned when he retired after a 30-year naval career that saw him deployed worldwide. Coldiron said, with 17 years at sea under his belt, that it was sometimes hard to explain where he was from.

After graduating from Romulus High School, Coldiron enlisted in the Navy as a corpsman and served combat tours with the 1st and 3rd Marine divisions, participating in operations Eagle Pull, the evacuation of Phnom Penh in Cambodia, Frequent Wind, the evacuation of Saigon and the rescue of the crew of the Mayaguez.

After his enlistment, Coldiron attended the University of Kentucky, graduating in 1979 with a Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry. Coldiron also received a Master of Arts degree in National Security Decision Making from the Naval War College in 1988.

Coldiron's naval career included various surface warfare and shore assignments including commanding USS Stump, a Spruance class destroyer. He also commanded Maritime Prepositioning Squadron One, and spent 14 months at sea preparing for the 2003 invasion of Iraq. He retired in 2009, last serving as the Defense and Naval Attache to the Kingdom of Denmark.

Coldiron said he believes that the government is best that governs least. "The government has no business legislating things they are trying to legislate," he said. He also said that he believes that compromise is important to an elected official. "If someone believes something strongly enough, you'll never convince them otherwise," Coldiron said. "You need to know how to compromise. There is no wrong political party, just different points of view, you have to make people comfortable with disagreeing."

Coldiron sees his three priorities if he is sent to Frankfort as being interrelated. "I am concerned about the future of education in Kentucky. When students graduate from high school, they're ready for college. I believe that we can educate kids, 11th and 12th grade kids, to be skilled workers. The reason we can't get industry to come to Kentucky is that, while we have plenty of labor, we don't have skilled labor. Skilled welders and med techs for example can be taught at the secondary level; you shouldn't need to go to college to enter the work force," he said.

He also wants to take on the Cabinet for Health and Family Services (CHFS). Coldiron related the difficulties of a friend who is raising three foster siblings and went for months without receiving a payment from CHFS. "CHFS needs a tremendous amount of work and probably a good housecleaning. We need accountability in all areas of government, not just that cabinet but in all areas," he said.

The last key area concern for the father of a son soon to be two-years-old is Kentucky's drug problem, particularly the manufacture and sale of methamphetamine. "Local police and the Kentucky State Police are doing the best job they can, but we have to give them more resources. Fighting drugs is like fighting the war on terror on a smaller scale; you need good intelligence to find these guys," he said. Coldiron also said that he supported the bill that would make the use of Kentucky's All Schedule Prescription Electronic Reporting system mandatory for everyone who writes a prescription. "Doctors aren't gods; we need to watch what they are prescribing, particularly these pain clinics," he said.

Coldiron said that he will be campaigning in Lincoln County but wants residents to know that he is not seeking endorsement from any party or organization, nor is he accepting any donations to his campaign.

Mark Eaton, Baptist Minister

Mark Eaton has been campaigning in Lincoln already; the 35 year-old has been going door-to-door in Waynesburg and is working his way through the outlying parts of the county, devoting two days a week to campaigning. Eaton, a full-time pastor who said he got the calling late in life, describes himself as "very conservative."

A father of four boys, Eaton strongly believes in term limits. "I am not a career politician, I don't think career politicians help our country," he said. Eaton, who has been the pastor of Central Baptist Church for seven years, sees scriptural precedent for his point of view. "I believe in servant leadership, like the bible says," he said. Eaton promises if elected to serve no more than 12 years. "I want to serve and then come home. I'm just a regular guy who wants to serve his community and come back and get back to a regular life."

Eaton graduated from Rockcastle County High School in 1995 and then studied at ECU for two years where he met his wife. Though he is a full-time pastor, Eaton is still involved in his family's various businesses, one of which is a residential trash pickup business, and they have shaped his political views. One of his top priorities is government regulation. "I believe we can create jobs by cutting government regulations. In the garbage business, we're a small company, all of our competitors are humungous companies, but the regulations we have on us are much more burdensome than they are on a large company," he said. He also believes that government is too big. "We have to cut spending. Kentucky is broke and it's way past time to cut spending," he said.

The other top priorities on Eaton's list if sent to Frankfort are moral issues. "I am 100 percent pro-life, he said emphatically. He is also strongly against gay marriage, allowing benefits for same-sex partners and the repeal of the military's Don't Ask, Don't Tell policy. "I don't think repealing Don't Ask, Don't Tell was the right path to take. I have a lot of relatives who were in the military and they were against it as well," Eaton said.

Eaton also wants Lincoln County residents to know that he will be paying close attention to agricultural issues if he is elected. "I was shocked at how much money Kentucky earns in farming," he said. "I am a strong supporter of agriculture; agriculture is our district. If I get to serve, I will pay attention to farmers."

Cedar Creek Lake beckons fishermen

By Katelynn Griffin

Cedar Creek Lake is Kentucky's only impoundment lake managed specifically for trophy sized bass. At approximately 762 acres, the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR) stocked the lake with several sport fish species, including largemouth bass, bluegill, redear sunfish, black crappie and channel catfish, making Lincoln County an angler's paradise.

The average depth of the lake is 22 feet with the deepest parts being around 60 feet. What makes Cedar Creek Lake so unique is the planning and management of the land. A 300-foot buffer zone has been established that essentially protects the lake from encroachment; no houses and no private boat docks are permitted. This allows anglers to have full access to the lake, whether it is using the three boat ramps, the dedicated bank fishing areas, or the handicap accessible fishing jetty; everyone has the opportunity to enjoy what the lake has to offer.

"It is a fishing lake, not a recreational lake," Kentucky

Department of Fish and Wildlife Conservation Officer Greg Hill said. "The lake was built for big bass." In order to promote the trophy size, there is a limit of one bass per angler and the fish must be at least 20 inches in length. Hill said the lake is not open for recreational boating, however the shallow water is favorable for kayaks and canoes.

KDFWR District Biologist John Williams said that overall the size and quality of the fish coming out of the lake is as good as it gets. Williams is in charge of the Southeastern Fishery District and has been involved with the Cedar Creek project since the creation and initial stocking of the lake. The fish are continuing to grow with a small number exceeding the 20 inches. Williams understands that fisherman appreciate catching fish of any size, even if they have to throw them back. "Fisherman like quality fish and they still enjoy catching three, four, five pound fish," Williams said. KDFWR does an assessment rank of the lakes throughout the state, based on the numbers, growth and size of the fish. In 2003 when the lake was impounded, it ranked poor, two years later it ranked fair, then good, and for the last three years the lake has ranked excellent. "For largemouth bass, I would put the lake up against any lake in the state," Williams said.

Visitors from outside the county are taking notice and are coming to find out just how good the fishing really is. "People come in from Tennessee, West Virginia and Indiana. Occasionally as far away as Texas and Florida," Randy Phillips, owner of Cedar Creek Lake Outfitters Bait Shop, said.

Phillips has seen first-hand the fish that people have been catching from the lake and he expects this year to be just as good, if not better.

Due to this year's fair weather, the fishing is getting hot earlier than usual. "Crappie is having a breakout year," Phillips said.

In 2006 Field & Stream ranked Cedar Creek Lake thirtieth on the list of "The 35 Best Bass Fishing Waters in the U.S." That was six years ago and the fish have continued to grow. More recently, Game & Fish magazine released a list of "Hot Spots for Kentucky Fishing In 2012." Cedar Creek Lake was chosen as a great destination for bass fishermen, with the magazine declaring "the quality and quantity of largemouths here is superb," further solidifying Cedar Creek as one of the premier big bass lakes in the state.

April 14, the lake hosts the USA Bassin KY Tournament, where the target species is black bass. It is an open tournament and the director of the co-ed fishing teams, Troy Daugherty, said that he believes one reason the fish get so big is because of the way the lake was created. When the lake was flooded, the KDFWR left trees and other natural habitat for the fish to hide and spawn. Daugherty said that the five pound fish that are pulled out of the lake are very good sized fish; people fish all their lives and don't catch fish that size.

Anyone wanting more information about the April bass tournament can go to the website at www.usabassin.com.

Unseasonably warm weather has been a boon to Cedar Creek Lake's fishermen.

Man seriously injured in Crab Orchard farm accident

By Katelynn Griffin

Tuesday afternoon Lincoln County emergency crews responded to a call at 1050 KY 618 W in Crab Orchard where a man had suffered injuries from a fork lift accident. The exact details of the accident are unclear, but emergency responders at the scene said that apparently Kenny Denny, 57, of Crab Orchard, had been working on a barn roof on Tony Todd's farm when he fell off and was crushed by the loader.

Denny was transported to UK's Chandler Medical Center by helicopter with serious injuries to his back and both legs.

Lincoln County Fire Station 6, Lincoln County Sheriff's Department, Crab Orchard Constable Jesse Harris, East End Ambulance and Stanford EMS were also on the scene.

“A joyous time”

Earl Eugene Scrugs, RIP

Earl Scrugs died last week and though not a Kentucky boy, his banjo playing was so elemental to what we now know as bluegrass that it defines our indigenous music.

There is much more that defined the man, but most important is the hard picking banjo sound he brought to the music we know today as bluegrass. Legendary Kentucky musician Bill Monroe’s band was named the Blue Grass Boys before he joined them, but it was Scrugs’ playing that moved the banjo from the back row, and with Monroe’s other frontman, guitarist Lester Flatt, blew Grand Ole Opry fans away and set the standard for what had been previously and informally known as hill music, hillbilly, high lonesome and many other names.

Born in Shelby, NC in 1924, Scrugs picked up his deceased father’s banjo at age four and began playing traditional two-fingered banjo. In an interview he gave late in his life, Scrugs said his mother complained that she couldn’t hear the melody in his songs so he started using his thumb to play a songs melody. In another account, Scrugs said his three-fingered style came out of an argument with his brother. Regardless, though other people played three-fingered banjo before Scrugs, no one played it like him and the style now bears his name.

Scrugs left Monroe’s band in 1948 with Flatt and formed the Foggy Mountain Boys, a band that was better known by bore names, Flatt and Scrugs. The two played together for the next 21 years, recording songs that were to become standards in any bluegrass bands repertoire as well as the iconic theme for the Beverly Hillbillies TV show, The Ballad of Jed Clampett.

During his life, Scrugs frequently diverged from the highly regimented Nashville mainstream on social issues. He played his signature Foggy Mountain Breakdown at the Moratorium to End the War in Vietnam to the half million protestors assembled in Washington, DC in in 1969.

Scrugs has received multiple Grammy awards, was inducted with Flatt in the Country Music Hall of Fame and was awarded the National Medal of Arts in 1992, but of all of the the tributes to the seminal banjo picker the most touching was the recounting by friends his melancholy over the death of his wife of 57 years, Louise, who died of respiratory disease six years ago. Do you need anything else to respect a man than the fact he kept his wife for half a century and mourned her until his own passing?

The man who described his life on stage as “a joyous time” died last Wednesday of natural causes in Nashville. Dead at 88, Earl Eugene Scrugs, RIP

The good news is, there’s still good journalism

By Gene Policinski

The nation’s editors are gathering in Washington, D.C., for the annual convention of the American Society of News Editors – and the good news is the April 2-4 convention once again is being held in hotel meeting rooms, not on the ledges.

Yes, there are continuing signs of economic trouble for the business of newsgathering and distribution – in particular for newspapers, according to a new report by the Pew Research Center’s Project for Excellence in Journalism.

But a mix of good journalism and smarter business operations bodes well for news as envisioned by the nation’s original “freelancers” – the writers who drafted and adopted the First Amendment’s protection for a free press.

The Pew Center’s State of the News Media 2012 is a snapshot of a profession in deep change – positive and negative. In 2011, the negatives included a finding that “losses in print advertising dollars outpaced gains in digital revenue by a factor of roughly 10 to 1, a ratio even worse than in 2010.” Pew noted that “when circulation and advertising revenue are combined, the newspaper industry has shrunk 43% since 2000.”

But the report also found that last year, a growing number of traditional news operations took steps toward a new web-based economic model to replace one based on huge profits from print classified and display advertising.

The Associated Press launched a partnership with more than two dozen news companies to license news content and collect royalties from aggregators – attacking both the technology and mentality that a “free press” somehow means free news.

Mobile devices such as smart phones and tablets are bringing readers back to news; there are signals in the Pew report that people are willing to spend more time on news rather than just entertainment or social networking.

About a tenth of daily newspapers have launched some sort of digital subscription plan or “pay wall” – a pay-to-see system, Pew said. Some are also developing their own staffs to harvest online business themselves, rather than through expensive third-party vendors.

Perhaps the most encouraging words from the Pew report, in a summary by Amy Mitchell and Tom Rosenstiel, are that we continue to look to traditional news outlets – and locally, newspapers – for the information we need about how our communities are operating, and to keep a watchful eye on government.

Again from the Pew study: “Among all adults, newspapers were cited as the most relied-upon source or tied for most relied upon for crime, taxes, local government activities, schools, local politics, local jobs, community/neighborhood events, arts events, zoning information, local social services, and real estate/housing.”

One constant in all of this change has been that high-quality journalism flourishes even in the worst of times. In a recent Scripps Howard Foundation journalism-awards competition, entries included major investigative reports, among them an effort by a small, two-person newspaper in North Carolina that has defied official pressure and threats of violence to hold local government officials accountable.

Here are just a few examples from the Scripps Howard entries of why journalism has a bright future, and why a free press deserves not only to survive but thrive:

- A New York Times year-long investigation of more than 2,000 state-run homes for the developmentally disabled that led to reforms.

- A five-part Wall Street Journal series that exposed pervasive mismanagement in the Social Security Disability Insurance system, prompting resignations, investigations and long-term efforts to overhaul the system.

Weekly reports from the above-noted Yancey County News, Burnsville, N.C., that has exposed absentee-ballot fraud, ethics violations, abuse of arrest powers, and the theft and illegal sale of county-owned firearms – all during the newspaper’s first year of operation.

The ASNE convention will last a little more than two days. Newspapers as we have known them may or may not last out the decade. But as the nation’s Founders anticipated more than 220 years ago, all signs continue to show how much we need news and information from an independent, vigorous press.

And the good news this day is we still have that.

Gene Policinski is senior vice president and executive director of the First Amendment Center.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor,
Kentucky has already seen the destructive power of nature as storms and tornadoes have hit several communities across the Commonwealth this spring. There have been lives lost, whole communities devastated and families uprooted from their homes.

There’s another storm raging across Kentucky that can prove just as fatal and just as damaging. Child abuse and neglect hits thousands of homes in Kentucky every year. In 2011 alone, there were nearly 10,000 substantiated cases of abuse and neglect, involving more than 15,500 children. Over the past five years, at least 141 children have died as a result of abuse and neglect in Kentucky.

In most cases, there are warning signs of child abuse and neglect and it’s up to us to sound the alarm so these children can find shelter and refuge. April is Child Abuse Prevention Month and it serves as a reminder that we have an obligation to protect the innocent young people in our communities.

If you suspect a child is being abused or neglected, you should immediately contact the Kentucky Child Abuse Reporting Hotline at 1-800-752-6200. This number is answered 24-hours a day, seven days a week. You can also report suspected child abuse to your county’s Child Protective Services Office, the local police or to the county attorney’s office.

State confidentiality laws will protect your identity and the report will be followed up by an investigation by Child Protective Services to determine if the report can be substantiated. Your call can literally save the life of a young person who may be in great danger.

You can also help after the storm has passed. Just as volunteers pitched in to help tornado victims recover from nature’s wrath, the children who are harmed in abusive and neglectful homes need immediate care and shelter. For more than 143 years, Sunrise Children’s Services has been a place of refuge for hurting children, and today we continue to offer that in the form of a statewide network of residential programs and foster homes.

We are constantly looking for new foster parents to open up their homes to the young victims who need love and security. If you’d like to learn more about how you can help Kentucky’s hurting children, visit us at www.sunrise.org.

Editor,
I just wanted to address the Buffalo Springs Cemetery rules issue. A cemetery is not a “park” and neither does it need to look that way.

The shepherd’s hooks and solar lights belong to the owners and families who have loved ones buried there. We own the burial lots that we have paid substantial amounts of money for.

The new cemetery reflects a new generation of how families honor, respect, celebrate and grieve the losses we have experienced. The items placed on the grave stones do not bother anyone.

No one has asked the owners of the lots anything. We have been left out of any rule discussions.

Many are not happy with the cemetery board’s actions, rules and lack of respect for families. No one will publicly express their feelings so I decided to express my opinion because I own four lots and have several family members and friends buried in the new cemetery.

Now, I feel that we, as owners, should demand:

-That all cemetery stones be cleaned after mowing. When grass is left on them it discolors the stones.

-Do not damage the stones. We pay a lot of money for the monuments and the cemetery mowing service should respect us and those who are buried there.

To sum it all up, people grieve in different ways and the cemetery board should not judge anyone by what they do with a family member’s cemetery plot. Tacky to one does not mean tacky to all. Holidays, anniversaries and special days are important to all of us.

We are not disrespectful to anyone and would encourage cemetery board members to respect the families who own these lots.

Editor,

Warm weather is upon us and still no marina at Cedar Creek Lake, no beach completed and no rest rooms built. When they took my land for this lake, it was said there would be a marina and a beach for recreation, and they ran a sewer line to Boone Road at the lake but not toward boat ramp so it is a little hard to build a marina and beach. That sewer line is not even being used by anyone

News from Watts Chapel Baptist Church

By Neville Hacker

Sunday morning service at Watts Chapel Baptist Church began with Bro. Dick Ledford giving the announcements and prayer requests.

Prayer requests were given for sickness, salvation for a lost loved one and for the loved ones of those who had passed away including some very young people. We pray that God will work a healing miracle in their hearts and lives and that He will give them encouragement by His Holy Spirit.

There will be an Easter egg hunt for the children during children's church on Sunday. Parents are asked to bring lots of candy filled eggs.

It was announced that Vacation Bible School will be held June 17-22. We hope to see a lot of children at that time.

After congregational hymns, "O, How He Loved You and Me" and "I'd Rather Have Jesus", we were blessed with special music by Mrs. Kim Hopkins, "Kneel at the Cross".

Bro. Dan continued in his series "At the feet of Jesus". This week was Love at the feet of Jesus from Mark 14:3-9 and John 12:1-8. Mark 14:1 states that two days before the days of passover and days of unleavened bread, the leading priest and teachers of religious law were plotting how to kill Jesus. Verse 3, meanwhile Jesus was in Bethany at the home of Simon who had been healed of leprosy. While they were eating, a woman came in with a beautiful alabaster jar of expensive perfume made from the essence of nard (also called nardin or muskroot). She broke the jar and poured the perfume on Jesus' head. In John's account, she poured it on His feet and wiped them with her hair. She probably poured it on both places. In those days, it was unheard of for a woman to let her hair down in public. But Mary didn't care what they thought. The expression of Mary's love was spontaneous. She was overwhelmed with love for Jesus.

Bro. Dan's first point was the extravagant love that Mary showed and said that in today's economy the perfume would be worth $20,000 to $25,000. John 12:4 states, But Judas Iscariot, the disciple who would soon betray Jesus said, perfume was worth a year's wages. It should have been sold and the money given to the poor. Not that he cared for the poor. He was a thief and since he was in charge of the disciple's money, he often stole some for himself.

Bro. Dan's next point was Mary was uninhibited and spontaneous in showing her love for Jesus in this way. Her love was memorable. Jesus told the disciples that Mary's act of love was in preparation for His burial. Jesus hushed the ones who were objecting to Mary's extravagant, uninhibited and memorable show of love and told them that wherever the Good News was preached throughout the world, this woman's deed will be remembered and discussed.

Bro. Dan asked, have we showed extravagant, uninhibited love for Jesus? Jesus tells us that when we show our love for others in acts of love and kindness, we have shown it to Him. We can all begin to watch for opportunities to serve Jesus by serving others.

May God bless all our readers and if you haven't experienced God's love, it will only happen when we repent of our sins and give Him our whole heart. He will forgive our sin and never bring it up again. As we follow Him day by day and study His word He becomes more a part of us and takes up residence in our hearts. Isn't that just awesome? He doesn't care about our past. He wants to give us a future with Him forever.

Our meeting times include Sunday school at 10 a.m., morning worship service at 11 a.m., Sunday evening service at 7 p.m. and Wednesday night A.W.A.N.A.S. at 6:30 p.m. and Bible study at 7 p.m.

John and Mindy Stevens

Cash, Stevens exchange vows

Mindy Cash and John E. Stevens, Jr. of Stanford were united in marriage on Tuesday, March 13 at 6 p.m. at Calvary Hill Baptist Church. Bro. Lewis Walter performed the wedding ceremony.

Attendants for the couple were Shelli Clarkson as matron of honor and Jim Grizzell as best man.

The bride is the daughter of the late Lloyd and Bertha Miracle of Stanford.

The groom is the son of John E. and Shelby Stevens of Stanford.

The couple will reside in Stanford.

Carlson completes basic training

Air Force Airman Christopher L. Carlson graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

The airman completed an intensive, eight-week program that included training in military discipline and studies, Air Force core values, physical fitness and basic warfare principles and skills.

Airmen who complete basic training earn four credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Carlson, the son of Tish Griffiths of Bowen Road in Stanford, is a 2010 graduate of Lincoln County High School.

News from the Kings Mountain area

By Violet Bell/Beverly Murphy

I am sorry that we have had no Kings Mountain news for the past two weeks, but on the week of March 20, I traveled to Zionsville, Ind., to visit with my son Michael, his wife Molly, and their three children Allison, Anna, and Luke for a few days. While there, I was able to watch Anna, who is ten years old, perform in a school musical, The Beauty and The Beast. Anna Helene was named after her great grandmother, Helene Murphy and she showed some of Helene's talent on stage. Helene would have been so proud, I certainly was.

On the week of March 26, I along with three of my friends from Indiana, took a short vacation to Sanibel Island, Fla. Connie, Tricia, and Janie and I enjoyed the wonderful weather, the unforgettable sunsets, great food and just being together with dear friends and catching up on the news from Milan, Ind.

John Henry Jenkins has suffered some heart problems, but is home now and seems to be feeling better.

We also have to report that Michelle Miles, widow of the late Dickie Miles passed from this life last week. Our condolences go out to their family and friends.

Clifford Murphy has suffered a heart attack but is now home after a short hospital stay and feeling better.

Ethelene Jenkins Johnson formerly of Kings Mountain and now resides in Ohio, traveled here to celebrate her birthday on March 23. She was surprised by 15 of her family and friends with a birthday dinner at the Stanford Depot Restaurant. Her two daughters, Janet and Brenda, were able to attend as well. It is always a pleasure to have former residents of Kings Mountain return for a visit. Ethelene would like to send her thanks to everyone who attended and made her day special.

Last Thursday evening, seven Senior Adults from the Pleasant Point Baptist Church traveled to the Bread of Life Restaurant where they all enjoyed a great meal together.

Last Sunday evening the Pleasant Point Baptist Church also enjoyed the showing of the movie Courageous. Over 30 people enjoyed snacks and this Christian movie.

This Sunday evening the Pleasant Point Baptist Church hosted an egg hunt which ended with much candy, prizes and hot dogs for everyone. A large crowd participated.

If anyone has any news about their family or their church, please call 365-2991. We always enjoy hearing from everyone.

Congratulations Kentucky Wildcats!!!!

Stanford Nazarene Church news

By Buford Edwards II

Sunday morning, Stanford Church of the Nazarene was blessed by the wonderful worship service and challenged by the Word of God as Bro. Buford brought the message from 2 Timothy. We had 61 in attendance for our morning service. We had 26 returning Sunday night for our evening service as Bro. Buford brought the message from Colossians.

Come out Wednesday night for Christian Education Night. The kids meet weekly for Bensons Buddies, Caravan, junior youth and youth classes. The adult class dubbed, "The Book" club is working through the book of Revelation.

Our reading this week is in Rev. 14. Read up and join us for Bible study as we continue to discuss "The Lamb Standing on the Mount" as well as the verse of the week: Revelation 14:1 (KJV), And I looked, and, lo, a Lamb stood on the Mount Zion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's name written in their foreheads.

Thought for the week: Victory is in sight so long as we keep our eye on the prize, the Lamb of God that now sits at the right hand of God the Father will again stand in victory on the mountaintop! The ladies meet the first and third Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the sanctuary. They are completing a Beth Moore study on the book of Daniel. Come out and get involved in this study!

On Friday, April 6 at 7 p.m., we are having a special Good Friday Communion Service in preparation for Easter, plan to come out and join for this special time of reflection. We will gather at the fellowship hall after the service for a light snack and time of fellowship!

On Saturday, April 7 beginning at 1:30 p.m., we will gather at the fellowship hall for hot dogs, chips and Kool-Aid followed by an Easter egg hunt for the kids! Bring your kids and join us

Highland Methodist Church news

Attendance at the Highland United Methodist Church on Palm Sunday, April 1, was better than usual.

It was exciting to see the children walking the aisles of the church waving palm branches as the adults sang and joined them in waving palm branches, too.

In biblical times His followers rejoiced as Jesus rode into the city proclaiming Him the King.

We joined the first triumphal entry crowd, as we too praised the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. When we recall all that He has done for us, we need to give Him daily praises.

The Highland congregation approaches prayer time with a sense of awe for God's generous answers to their prayers. That they even know of the many needs is heartwarming. The names people read in the news articles are names of new or reintroduced individuals and are just a portion of all the names on the church's prayer list.

This week's requests included Sue and Jim Peek, Betty Haste, Frankie Young's grandson, the T. J. Hill family, Brenda Shepherd's family, Levi Baker's family, Dexter Todd, Shannon Slone, Wilma May and unspoken.

The choir lifted our spirits to yet another level as they presented four challenging songs.

The scripture reading was from Luke 19:29-40. Rev. Scilley shared several biblical stories where people gave Jesus the best that they had at that moment in their life. A couple of examples were Lazarus' sisters, who had tears and sadness and Jesus turned them into joy and the widow in the temple, who gave what she had to Jesus, and Jesus turned it into a stewardship and devotion lesson that is still being told today.

The lepers only had health issues as the best they had, and Jesus turned the gift into healing, family gatherings and new opportunities.

Rev. Scilley challenged us to give the best we have and see the amazing things Jesus has in store for each of us.

Thursday, April 5 at 7 p.m., we will meet for a time of reflection and Holy Communion.

On Sunday, April 8, at 7:05 a.m., those who choose will gather at the cemetery for a sunrise service to in the mailbox for one of our mission team to pick up.

If you have donations to make to Goodwill in Stanford, let them know it is on behalf of the Stanford Church of the Nazarene. You will receive a receipt for tax purposes and the donation helps fund the home missions programs.

Service times: Sunday morning worship begins at 10:30 a.m., Sunday evening services at 6 p.m., and Christian Education Night is every Wednesday beginning at 7 p.m.

For more information about our youth group and children's programs, email the directors at www.stanfordchurchofthenazarene.com

If you would like more information about our church and events, contact Bro. Buford Edwards at (606) 365-1260 or visit us on the web. Don't forget to also "like" the Stanford Church of the Nazarene on Facebook to receive daily updates and an encouraging word.

News from Calvary Tabernacle Church

Calvary Tabernacle Church had two powerful messages preached. Youth pastor Steve Nicholson ministered on "Gods promises" Wednesday evening and pastor Jon Hall ministered on healing.

After the message, Sunday we had a healing service where people where blessed in many ways.

We will be at Golden Living at 10 a.m. on May 6. James 1:27 says, "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world."

Daughters of Zion will meet Friday, April 20 at 7 p.m. All ladies are welcome to join us for fellowship, bible study and prayer.

The next community feeding will be Saturday, April 21. Deuteronomy 15:11 reads, "For the poor shall never cease out of the land: therefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to thy needy, in thy land." If you would like more information about this program, contact Rhonda Hall at 365-0240 or 669-0077.

Our verse of the week is Jeremiah 29:11 "For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, saith the LORD, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end".

Pastor Hall invites everyone to come and worship with us. Services are Wednesday nights at 7 p.m., and Sunday school on Sunday at 2 p.m. The church is located at 57 West Pleasant Point School Road, Waynesburg. If you have any questions, contact Jonathan Hall at (606) 365-0240 or (606) 669-2019.

Summer Feeding Program

The Lincoln County Board of Education sponsors the "Summer Feeding Program" in Lincoln County. Each summer, 22.3 million students are at risk of going hungry when the school year ends and school meals are no longer available. The Summer Food Service Program (SFSP) can help fill the gap for low-income children. Faith-based, community and private non-profit organizations can make a difference in the lives of hungry children by serving FREE meals with the Summer Feeding program. This program provides a wonderful, free opportunity to add an additional facet to your Vacation Bible Schools. If your church or organization is involved in any summer youth programs from June 4 thru July 27, we encourage you to participate. Through the Summer Feeding Program, we provide nutritional FREE meals for any child 18 years and younger. Contact Cathy Pleasants at the Lincoln County Board of Education for more information at 365-2124.

Flushing Cancer out of Lincoln County

Starting March 19, New Beginnings UMC will have a campaign called "Flushing Cancer". We have a purple toilet, that for a donation of $15, we will place in a friend's yard. The friend can proudly display it for two days in their yard, unless they pay a $10 quick removal donation. Those who do not wish to have the toilet in their yard can purchase "Flushing insurance" for a donation of $20. If someone tries to flush you they will be told that you are insured. Remember this is for a good cause, Fighting Cancer. Help our team flush cancer out of Lincoln County. If you have any questions, call Dawn at (606) 879-1054.

Pleasant View Baptist Church news

By Scena Ann Petrey

Sunday, April 8 is Easter Sunday – often called “the rest of the Christmas story.” Many have asked what made Jesus stay on the Cross. We all know the world did not possess enough nails to “make” Jesus stay there. “Nails could not have kept Jesus on the cross had not love held Him there.” Because of His love, He left His heavenly home, came to earth and lived for 33 years, went through excruciating pain, and died a horrific death on the cross. But the grave could not hold Him; He arose on Sunday and is in heaven today.

This weekend Pleasant View has many wonderful plans starting on Friday night (tomorrow). Beginning at 7 p.m., we will have a service where we will observe the Lord’s Supper.

On Saturday, April 7, we will have an Easter egg hunt for children from birth through sixth grade. Many events have been planned, and rain or shine, it will go on. The time for this is 10 a.m. to noon.

On Sunday, April 8 at 7 a.m., Pleasant View will have an Easter sunrise service followed by a breakfast. Sunday school will be at 10 a.m. with only one preaching service at 11 a.m. Everyone is welcomed to come and celebrate Easter and its special meaning.

The choir sang a special on Sunday, April 1 that featured Jessica Page. “All that I am, all that I have, I owe to Thee, O Calvary’s Lamb.” So true – without Him we have nothing and are nothing.

Josh Jacobs sang, “My Father, my enduring Friend, patient Savior, Author and Healer; Your grace still amazes me. Your love is deeper, wider, stronger and higher than anything my eyes can see.” How true!

Bro. Kyle’s message “The Message of the Cross” was from Joshua 6:1-21. This passage speaks about the walls of Jericho as they came down when the children of Israel marched around them. Just as the walls came down for the Israelites, so does the walls of sin come down through the cross.

Bro. Kyle spoke of our inadequacy to do anything for ourselves. Only with God can we accomplish anything. He talked about complete devotion. If we only go to church and don’t invest anything into our time outside the walls of the building, we miss the whole point of devotion. The last point Bro. Kyle spoke on was freedom. “We can have freedom in Christ,” stated Bro. Kyle.

Sunday evening’s service featured the church and associational Bible drill. Kamren Clarkson and Logan Godbey both competed Sunday evening and will go on to Bardstown for the state competition.

Andrew McGinnis brought the evening message. Andrew will graduate from Campbellsville University in May.

Laura Gonzalez and Luis Alberto Gonzalez and Lucia Gonzalez and Kamil Kaminiski will have a double wedding ceremony at Pleasant View on Saturday, April 7 at 3 p.m. The open wedding will be followed with a reception at The Center for Rural Development in Somerset. Congratulations and best wishes to the couples.

Rehearsal begins on Wednesday, April 18 for “I Love This Land” which will be presented at our July 1 celebration at the Kings Mountain Community Center. Everyone is invited to be a part of the choir. Rehearsal for the musical will be from 7:30 to 8 p.m.

The women of the Hedgeville Baptist Church is having a Women of Wisdom Conference on May 5 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mrs. Joyce Rogers and Mrs. Patty Howell will be speakers. The conference is free, but a love offering will be taken. Breakfast and lunch will be provided. If you are interested in going, sign up by April 22. For more details contact Judy Jacobs.

Van drivers are needed. If you are interested in volunteering to drive the church vans, please see Jerry Brock.

We currently have two search teams in place. Please remember them in prayer as they seek God’s will for people to fill the following: Associate Pastor/Young Adults and Associate Pastor/Music and Education.

There will be a retreat for the WMU at Laurel Lodge Baptist Camp in Corbin on April 13-14. “A Wrinkle-Free Woman” (or how to add starch to your life) is the theme for this retreat.

Dates to remember: June 18-22 Vacation Bible School (Aviation Wonders); July 1-4 - Celebration at Kings Mountain Community Center; July 22-25 - Crossing’s Kid Camp.

Thought for the week: “3 nails + 1 cross = 4 given!” Happy Easter!

Tammy Todd, right, of Patriot Petals Flower Shop, presented the program at the Green Thumb Garden Club meeting on March 8 held at the senior citizen's building. Refreshments were provided by Sherrill Disney, left. A Garden Tour is set for June 9. If anyone is interested in showing your garden, please call 365-9204.

Fairview Baptist Church news

Sunday’s message by Bro. Johnny Baker was taken from Mark 15:33-41, some of the most heart wrenching verses in the bible, Bro. Johnny said. Jesus being crucified is among some of the most horrendous events in history, but this terrible evil was also a victory over evil. That day is infamous because the creator was put to death by his creation.

Jesus came sinless, Bro. Johnny said, accused by the Jews of blasphemy. He was turned over to the soldiers, beaten, whipped and taken to Calvary to be crucified.

In verse 33, Jesus has been on the cross for three hours, in great pain and degradation. The one who made man from dust had no compassion from man, Bro. Johnny said. When the sixth hour came, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour (verse 33). At the ninth hour, Jesus cried, “My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?” and gave up the ghost (verse 37) God had turned his back on Jesus, Bro. Johnny said, because Jesus had taken on our sin, and because the wages of sin is death. He suffered separation from his father – the worse part of Hell. God judged him in our place. This is the sinless sacrifice that brings God and man together.

For those who believe in faith that Jesus died for their sins, those sins are as far away from them as East is from West, as the bible says.

There are not many ways to God, as some say. Neither Buddha, nor Muhammad, nor Joseph Smith died for your sins, Bro. Johnny said. (End of sermon summary)

2012 Lincoln County Idol begins April 12

The 2012 Lincoln County Idol will begin its season on Thursday, April 12 at the First Southern Community Arts Center at 7 p.m. Last year this was the biggest event in Lincoln County and we are hoping that it will be the same this year. This year's event is sponsored by Kentucky Soaps and Such and the Bluebird Cafe.

Twelve contestants, four from last year, promise to provide all in attendance a great show.

Lincoln County Idol will continue every Thursday at 7 p.m. until May 24 at the Community Arts Center, where two remaining contestants will compete for $1,000. The grand finale show will be held in the City Parking Garage.

The Art Center holds 250 people and we expect a full house at every show. By attending and paying the $5 admission, you receive a voting slip and a chance to win prizes from our sponsors. You also will be able to vote one time online. All details will be announced at each show. Over 5,000 people voted online last season from all over Lincoln

Seasonal allergies are common in spring

By William Stafford, M.D.

We all know the rhyme, April showers bring May flowers. But April brings more than just rain – it carries with it the beginning of allergy season. The trees may be greening and the flowers blooming, but that can mean misery for the 35 million Americans who suffer from seasonal allergies.

Pollens released by trees, grasses and weeds are very small and light, allowing them to be carried up to 100 miles from their source by the wind. The first step to avoid reactions to these pollens is to avoid them as much as possible. Keep indoors as much as possible between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., as pollen counts are generally higher during this period. You can also use a HEPA (high-efficiency particulate air) filter on your furnace and air conditioner to reduce pollens that enter your house. Wipe off a pet's fur before it enters the house, and take your shoes off outside.

The more time you spend outdoors in the spring, the more you will be subject to pollens and insects. If you are stung or bit by an insect, a mild reaction can be treated by removing the stinger and placing an ice pack on the bite to reduce pain and swelling. If you experience difficulty breathing after an insect bite, or if you feel dizzy or confused, call 9-1-1 or go immediately to an emergency department.

If avoidance doesn't calm all of your allergies, try an over-the-counter antihistamine, which can stop allergy symptoms such as itchy nose and throat and sneezing. A decongestant can help with nasal stuffiness but can also raise blood pressure, so you should consult your medical provider before choosing one.

Allergy immunotherapy, known as allergy shots, is a final step to consider and occurs after allergy testing. Allergy shots retrain the immune system to tolerate what it is overreacting to, but it is a long-term method that requires maintenance for up to several years. If your symptoms are interfering with your daily activities, talk to your health care provider about treatment options available to you.

Art Center hosts artshops on third Tuesday

If you were in Stanford last Tuesday evening, maybe you heard the roar coming from the First Southern Community Art Center. The Center hosted the first of many "Third Tuesday Art Shops" with a class on making "Plate Flower Yard Art". Each participant came with their plates, saucers and small bowls, some family pieces, and some purchased for the purpose at Goodwill. With a little drilling, glue and a few glass blobs for bling these were turned into new treasures to adorn their gardens or potted plants. There was also a little food, and a great deal of fun.

The Art Center plans to have a different Artshop each third Tuesday of the month at 6:30 p.m. The April 17 Artshop is a class for wannabe jewelers. Basic jewelry and wire skills will be taught. Besides the knowledge and skills learned in the class, participants will take away with them either a Mother's Day bracelet, or a book thong.

The May Artshop will be taught by gifted colored pencil artist, Pat Fretz of Danville.

If you are on facebook, Like us at First Southern Community Art Center and keep up with all the cool events going on at the center.

The Sister-Sister program will be held Thursday, April 5 at the Lincoln County Health Department at 11 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Screening will be available on this date also. Contact Ms. Diane Miller at the health department.

Don't forget the "sunrise" service that will be held at the Bethel A.M.E. Church, Boneyville, at 6 a.m. Rev. Tony Gooch will be the one preaching. Rev. Kelvin Robinson is the pastor.

The B.U.C.L.C. workshop will be held at the Maple Street Baptist Church, Somerset, April 14 at 10 a.m. on behalf of the South District Association. Rev. James Barleston will be the host pastor and Elder Robert Coulter is the district moderator.

On Sunday, April 15, Rev. Bob Brown and congregation of the New Horizon Baptist Church, Danville, will be the guests at 3 p.m. on behalf of the User Board of the Boneyville Baptist Church. Mrs. Tina Simpson is the president and Elder Robert Coulter is the pastor.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Opal Ford Johnson, a sister of Mr. Cecil Ford. The funeral service was held Monday at the First Baptist Church, Danville.

Mrs. Pearl Davis is back home after visiting with her children and grandchildren in Austin, Texas for several weeks.

Mrs. Lucy Logan was transported to the Fort Logan Hospital on Sunday and was later released and taken back to the Golden LivingCenter.

Miss Carolyn Gooch is doing better after being released from the hospital.

Dr. Anne Stewart Butler of Frankfort visited Ms. Barthenia Brown and Mrs. Sara Givens.

Mrs. Patricia Suter, Mrs. Audrey Perrin, Ms. Barthenia Brown and Mrs. Sara Givens visited Mrs. Priscilla Brown on Saturday to watch the U of L and Ky. game and as usual, just like at the home of Mrs. Lovester, "house divided", but lots of fun for everyone.

News from the New Covenant Church

By Bethany Rowland

Sunday, April 1, at New Covenant Church was fabulous. The spirit of the Lord was so strong to encourage and uplift. From the beginning song, the congregational hymn and the following spiritual songs you could just feel the Lord's wonderful presence.

Pastor, Bro. Joel Rowland, gave an outstanding sermon on "The burden of the spirit filled", reading text from Isaiah 61:1 "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound;" and Luke 4:13-21 "13) And when the devil had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a season. 14) And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee: and there went out a fame of him through all the region round about. 15) And he taught in their synagogues, being glorified of all. 16) And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up: and, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and stood up for to read. 17) And there was delivered unto him the book of the prophet Esaias. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it was written, 18) The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, 19) To preach the acceptable year of the Lord. 20) And he closed the book, and he gave it again to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him. 21) And he began to say unto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears."

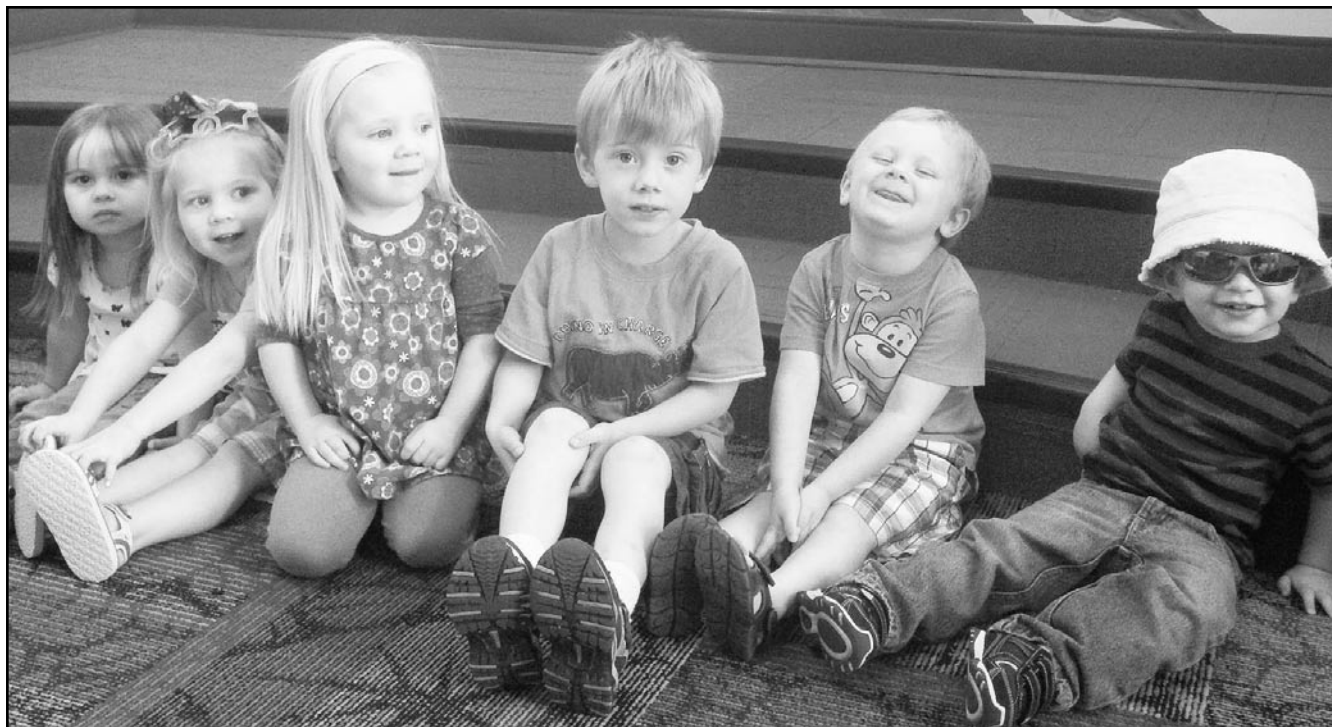

If we didn't already have an idea of why Jesus came and what He came to do, these scriptures reveal it. Isaiah 61:1 is a prophecy and foreshadowing of Christ. So, in Luke, when He says "This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears" He is fulfilling yet another prophecy. Jesus came "to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised". If Jesus did and still does it, so should we.

We see here the burden of Christ. It says "Because he hath anointed me to preach". Christ lives within us. Therefore, when His spirit comes upon us we have this same anointing and we should also have this great burden of Christ. He will put it on the ones that are like Him. This great burden is that, a burden, but it is not one that is impossible to bear and that will take you under. It is one that will encourage you to keep going, to do the will of God, to do whatever it takes "to seek and to save that which was lost" (Luke 19:10).

Along with this burden comes the wonderful love of God. One is nearly impossible without the other. You can't have a burden for a complete stranger without a love of God for them, and you can't have a love for a complete stranger without having a burden from God for them. When we accept God and Christ into our lives His love is immediately placed in us and as time progresses, as we grow in Him and His wonderful Grace, that love begins to grow. When we feel it we will go beyond the sin and person that we see and instead see the broken heart and the soul in need of salvation. Luke 4:8 says "for charity shall cover the multitude of sins". Charity is the wonderful love and God, combined with many of His other glorious attributes.

This wonderful love of God makes you do things that you would never even consider otherwise and feel joy in doing them. Jesus went to those that no one else noticed or cared about and He is calling us to do the same. We should have a burden for everyone, especially those that others have completely forgotten. In our text from Luke 4 verse 18 says "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor". The poor does not merely mean those that are poor as far as finances go, although they are important too, this is speaking of the broken hearted, the poor in spirit. The ones that have been cast aside. When Jesus spoke there were always people listening and many times some did not like what He said and did because He went to those that were considered "unimportant". He touched, spoke with and healed those that no one else would even give a second glance. He went to the sinners, the maimed and wounded, the ones with shattered hearts, and He

EAGLE CLASSIC: Bat Patriots win extra-inning thriller over Union

By Nancy Leedy

BEREA – A good old-fashioned pitcher’s duel kept the lights burning late at Madison Southern High School Monday as Lincoln County and Union County duked it out in the Eagle Classic.

After being held to just one run apiece through seven innings, both the Lincoln and Union offenses came alive in the eighth inning, plating three runs. But it wasn’t until the top of the ninth that Lincoln got the edge it needed, with Tanner Leigh hitting a sacrifice fly to give the Bat Patriots a 5-4 win.

Dylan King (2-for-4) led off the ninth with a single to centerfield, moved to second on a perfect Boone Baird bunt single and took third on a bunt out by Michael Wilcher. Then Leigh followed with the sacrifice fly to left field to put the Bat Patriots up one run.

Lincoln closer Nolan Sanders sealed the win in the bottom of the ninth by retiring the Union batters in order.

“It was an excellent game,” Lincoln coach Brad McNew said. “We did the little things and that was big. Dylan gets a hit and then Boone and Mike back-to-back bunts. If they don’t get those bunts, we’re not winning that ballgame. You get the bunts down then we come through with the fly ball to score the run. That’s the little things that have got to happen for us to become a great ball club.”

King’s single, the two bunts and Leigh’s wallop to left field only slightly tarnished the brilliance of the pitching battle waged throughout the game. Lincoln’s ace Zach Brown and Union’s top hurler Blaine Alvey allowed only one run apiece in the first seven innings, with Brown, who gave up one run in the first, pitching six consecutive scoreless innings and Alvey denying Lincoln through its first five at-bats.

“Zach Brown, once again, he got us there,” said

McNew. “We’re not even in that situation if he doesn’t pitch the way he does because that’s a great baseball team across the field from us tonight. All compliments to them (Union Braves). They are a great team.”

“I keep telling our pitchers ‘Just give us a chance to win.’ And he dueled. That was a good guy across the way. (Alvey’s) a good arm. He’s a senior, college-armed pitcher.”

Alvey gave up one run off two hits, with one walk and nine strikeouts. Brown allowed one run off seven hits, with one intentional walk and four strikeouts.

Union (9-2) led for most of the game, with Alvey tagging an RBI-single to left in the bottom of the first inning to drive in Shawn Williamson.

Lincoln (5-3) evened the score at 1-all in the top of the sixth when Wilcher scored on a Union throwing error. Wilcher, who singled to center to reach and moved to second on a Leigh bunt, got the green light to go home from McNew after Brave third baseman Kyle Griffin underthrew first baseman Sam Greenwell on a Ryne

Lincoln girls win extra-inning tangle with Bryan Station

By Nancy Leedy

LEXINGTON – It took eight innings for the Lincoln County girls to walk away from the Bryan Station softball diamond with a win.

Strong base running by Lady Patriots Morgan Cooper and Alyssa Meece and an RBI-single by Mary Beth Hogue provided the lift Lincoln needed to defeat the Lady Defenders 5-3 in the extended game.

The game was tied at 2-all after seven innings but Cooper, who was put on second to start the extra inning and Meece, who reached on a walk, were both high-tailing it home in the top of the eighth after a Bryan Station throwing error. Gabby Gabriel bunted in front of pitcher Suzanne Hall and Hall, going for the force out on Cooper, overthrew third baseman Markiara Smith.

Cooper and Meece both scored on the error to break the tie then Hogue stepped up and delivered a shot to right field to plate Gabriel and set Lincoln up for the win.

“One thing that we have talked about from the very beginning of the season was that we were going to be the best base running team every time we stepped on the field and that showed tonight,” Lincoln coach Kevin Bandura said. “We put pressure on their defense by running and they threw it out in left field, and that opened things up for us. That’s what we’ve tried to pride ourselves on. We’re going to take chances. We’re going to get thrown out from time-to-time, but the more chances you take and the more aggressive you are, the more pressure it puts on the other team. That showed tonight and that’s why we won tonight.”

Dallas Smith was at second for Bryan Station to start the bottom of the inning, but she wasn’t up long with Lindsey Henson getting a single off Gabriel. But Lincoln’s eighth-grade hurler did not give up another run. Henson managed to get to third and Atiyana Wilson walked on, however, Gabriel put the game away by getting Megan Hoovler and Hall to fly out and Devon DeLeon to strike out.

Gabriel, who relieved Meece to start the sixth, gave up two runs off two hits with two strikeouts. Meece allowed one run off 10 hits in her five innings on with two strikeouts and one walk.

“We got a really good pitching performance from Alyssa Meece. She started out and held them to one run. And Gabby came in and closed the door. She did give up the home run. One bad pitch and the girl made a great swing on it,” said

Bandura.

Hoovler, who was 3-for-5, knocked out the long ball in the bottom of the sixth to put the game in a 2-all tie. She also tallied the game’s first run. Hoovler doubled to reach in the first inning, moved to third on a wild pitch and scored on a Hall bunt single.

With a 12-hit effort, the Bryan Station offense showed it could put runners on base. Unfortunately, for the Lady Defenders, not all made it home, with runners left on in every inning. The Lady Defenders left the bases loaded in the second inning and had two runners left on in the first, fifth and seventh innings.

Lincoln's offense could not match Bryan Station's 10 hits, but the seven hits tagged off Hall proved enough for the win.

"Bryan Station made a lot of really good plays. We hit some balls that I thought were going to get down and they got to them," said Bandura. "But I like the way our team doesn't give up. We didn't have our best offensive output tonight. Their pitcher didn't throw hard but she kept us off-balance and they made plays. When you make plays and keep a team off balance you're going to have a chance to win. Bryan Station did that tonight but, fortunately, we got the win."

Making the play

Hall went the distance for Bryan Station, allowing five runs off seven hits, with four walks and three strikeouts.

Lincoln was scoreless until the fifth inning. Kellie Conley and Chelsea Marcum got back-to-back walks off Hall to start the inning. The two runners then stole their way to third and came home on wild pitches to give Lincoln a 2-1 lead – a lead that lasted until Hoovler homered in the sixth.

Despite giving up the game-tying homer, Bandura said he never considered replacing the youthful Gabriel on the mound.

"For an eighth grader, she's got a tremendous amount of poise," he said. "Experience a lot of times comes in small packages, and young. I would venture to say she's played more softball games than anybody on our team simply because she plays so many games during the summer and she's done it for so long. People talk about our youth but the seventh graders are the first group that has been able to play softball right after t-ball. We're just now getting to where we don't have to start from square one to turn athletes into softball players. We're going to start to get softball players."

Lady Pats roll 11-1

Lincoln County made short work of Washington County, romping 11-1 over the visiting Commanderettes in five innings.

The Lady Patriots (4-1) had 10 hits and took advantage of seven walks and a hit batter to score three runs in the second, third and fifth innings.

"We asked our players to get on the board early, and they responded with seven runs in the first three innings," Lincoln coach Kevin Bandura said. "I'm pleased that we hit up and down the lineup and when your eight and nine hitters drive in four runs, you're going to win a lot of games."

Lincoln got three hits from Morgan Cooper and two from Chelsea Marcum as seven players hit safely. Amanda Conway and Maggie Taylor drove in two runs apiece.

Gabby Gabriel held Washington County (2-3) to one earned run, two hits, three walks, and a hit batter while striking out six.

"Gabby Gabriel had another good night pitching for us and when you get good pitching, you've got a chance to win," said Bandura. "We need to clean up some things defensively, but otherwise, this was a good win for us."

It's Important You Know Where I Stand

Pro-Life – I am unashamedly pro-life when it comes to defending the defenseless and innocent among us. I believe that our nation forfeited the moral high ground when we declared unborn children to be disposable. Since 1974, over 40 million babies have been killed for the false god of choice.

Pro-Family – God instituted the family before He instituted the government. The family is the basic building block of all of society. I support the traditional definition of marriage of "one man and one woman."

Pro-2nd Amendment – The Constitution undeniably gives every citizen in this country the "right to bear arms" and protect themselves. Our Founding Fathers knew what oppressive government and domestic enemies could do. Is it any wonder it was the second most important amendment they created? I support their decision then and now.

No Gambling – I believe in the old-fashioned American work ethic that built this country. A family is provided for by working and earning, not taking chances. It's not morally right to profit knowingly from another person's irresponsible behavior either. Gambling always produces social and economic hardships.

Pro-Capitalism – The Free Market has developed America into the most powerful country in the world. Socialism, regulations, and more legislation will not create jobs. Creating an environment in the marketplace that allows for small businesses and industry to start and to grow easily will lead to job creation. Let the Free Market work!

Kentucky Afield Outdoors: Spring the best time for trophy largemouth bass

FRANKFORT, Ky. - It's the mouth that gets you. You hook a huge largemouth bass and all you can see is a giant, angry shaking mouth. The size of the mouth lets you know this bass is one of the top ones you've ever hooked. You realize the giant, gaping shaking bucket with your lure impaled in it is the biggest you've seen. This can cause dry mouth, uncontrollable shaking and panic.

One of my best friends hooked his biggest largemouth bass many years ago while fishing from the bank of a small pond in spring. When the 23-inch bass jumped and showed his out-sized mouth, my buddy took off running in a blind panic. He pulled that bass over some brush and up on the bank like the fish was tethered to a jet taking off. After I grabbed the fish for him and offered congratulations, he stood there with an imp-ish grin on his face, shaking and in mild shock. This is the best time of the year for you to have one of those experiences that hooks you to bass fishing for the rest of your life. Trophy largemouth bass are on the prowl now. "They are actively feeding now to get ready for the spawn," said Gerry Buynak, assistant director of fisheries for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "They need metabolic energy for egg development and for the rigors of spawning." Female bass make up a large proportion of trophy largemouth bass. Prior to spawning in March and into April in a typical year, the female bass weigh considerably more than at any other time of year. "A normal 6-pound female largemouth bass would weigh 7 and one-half pounds

Otto ground ball. The score remained deadlocked until the eighth inning when the two offenses cranked out six runs. It appeared that Lincoln might have the game in hand in the top of the eighth after scoring three runs off reliever Kyle Griffin. Chase Pemberton connected for an RBI-triple to left to plate both Leigh and Sanders then he added his own score off a wild pitch to Nick Smith to make it 4-1. However, Union answered with its own three-run effort in the bottom of the inning, with Micah Brown, Heath Onan and Nolan Cowan each getting a hit and a run off Smith, who came on in the eighth. Three runs was all Smith and the Lincoln defense allowed, though, stranding two Braves on base with a force out and a ground out. Lincoln had the opportunity to build on its 5-4 lead in the ninth with Baird, John Day and Otto all on base with two outs but Griffin got Vinny Morris to fly out to end the inning. "We got the win and that's what matters," said McNew. "This morning we had a little downside (4-2 loss to Western Hills) but we responded well here. We got down and responded. We got up, then they tied it back up. Then we finally got the win. We're starting to get on an even keel. Hopefully that's a sign of a good baseball team coming along here."

just prior to spawning,” said Jeff Ross, assistant director of fisheries for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. “The eggs make up about 25 percent of their weight during pre-spawn and the eggs are at their densest just prior to the spawn. If you are after a trophy largemouth bass, right now is the best time to try.”

Buynak, who once served as black bass biologist as did Ross after him, said largemouth bass should be nudging their way to backs of creeks and coves in reservoirs.

“Judging by my fruit trees, we are at least three weeks early this year from the unusually warm spring,” he said.

Try large baits in these shallow areas. “You need to use big baits right now because all of the forage is big,” Ross explained. “They also want their greatest nutrient boost for the effort and you get that with larger forage.”

Spinnerbaits, jig and trailer combinations and shad imitating swimbait all work well right now for largemouth bass. A recent club tournament on Lake Kincaid produced seven largemouth bass over 18 inches long with the biggest fish weighing nearly 6 pounds. A black and blue jig and trailer or a black/blue chatterbait fooled all of these fish.

You may want to plan a trip to Lake Beshear near Dawson Springs for largemouth bass soon. Bass tournament catch data compiled by black bass research biologist Chris Hickey shows it takes the least amount of fishing hours to catch a largemouth bass over 5 pounds at Lake Beshear. Lake Beshear also has the heaviest average winning tournament weight at just over 21 pounds.

Lake Beshear also is second behind Cedar Creek Lake in the average size of bass weighed in at slightly over 3 pounds. Cedar Creek Lake’s average tournament bass weighs 4.64 pounds, but the lake also has a 20-inch minimum size limit.

Barren River Lake ranked second in average winning weight at just above 17 pounds, just ahead of Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley. These two lakes also rank third and fourth in the average weight per bass in the compiled tournament data as well as hours of fishing needed to catch a bass over 5 pounds.

You don’t need an expensive boat, or any boat at all, to catch a trophy bass at this time of year. Bank fishing can provide you with trophy bass right now if you choose wisely. The back ends of small coves on the main lake or major creek arms hold big bass right now. If the bass haven’t moved to the back of them, the smaller coves allow you to easily access points on the major creek arms or the main lake via a short walk.

Farm ponds are another option if you don’t own a boat. They heat up quicker in spring than big lakes, and you can usually fish nearly all of an average-sized pond from the bank. A 1/8-ounce double-bladed white spinnerbait is a tough lure to beat as is a Texas-rigged pumpkinseed lizard with a chartreuse tail.

Check out our other features of the March Fishing Madness Kickoff on a new page at the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife website at fw.ky.gov. If you plan to fish, you’ll need to buy a new 2012 Kentucky fishing license, available in the sporting goods section of department stores and tackle shops. You may buy one by visiting the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife homepage at fw.ky.gov or by calling 1-877-598-2401.

Be alert for bloat

This is another great year for clover. You producers need to take a look at your pastures. Clover has grown rapidly this spring. There is a high risk for clover bloat with anything that is in excess of an estimated 50 percent clover or alfalfa. Rumensin in your mineral helps a lot. Bloat blocks and feeds work great to prevent most bloat problems. For more details see the article below on managing bloat by our U.K. Beef and Forage Specialist.

Bloat occurs as a result of a buildup of fermentation gases in the rumen/stomach of cattle. In normal situations, these gases are (belched) out of the animal. When this gas is prevented from escaping the rumen, it builds up and the rumen becomes distended or stretched. As the pressure in the rumen increases, breathing is affected, because the diaphragm cannot expand and create the negative air pressure in the lungs necessary to inhale. In severe cases, this inability to inhale may cause death from suffocation. Bloat potential is greatest during rapid growth periods in spring and declines during summer. Most incidences in Kentucky are usually from mid-March through May.

Legumes and succulent rye and wheat which are high in soluble protein, low in lignin and have a highly digestible cell wall are considered high risk for promoting bloat. Digestion of legumes high in soluble protein can cause the formation of a slime that traps the fermentation gasses and rumen contents, resulting in the frothy appearance and preventing the gas from being expelled.

Frothy bloat can cause death in as little as one hour after grazing begins on a bloat-producing pasture. It may occur on the first day of turnout but is more commonly seen on the second or third day. The main symptom is a swelling of the left region of the abdomen. Other early symptoms include repetitive standing up and lying down, kicking at the belly, frequent defecation and urination, grunting and extension of the neck and head. Without treatment, the animal will collapse and die, generally three to four hours after clinical signs begin.

With proper management, however, stands with more than 50 percent legumes can be grazed with little to no bloat. No single factor, however, will eliminate the risk.

Moisture plays a role in forage's bloat potential. Hungry cattle graze more aggressively when moved to a new pasture, so they should not be moved to new pastures with high legume content until mid-day after the dew has dried and after they have grazed in the morning. The use of feed additives, primarily surfactants and ionophores has been shown to be effective at reducing bloat. The most common antifoaming surfactant is poloxalene, which is usually incorporated into a small block form.

Poloxalene also comes in a loose granular form that can be mixed in with salt, mineral supplement, or some other feedstuff. Daily hand feeding a supplement containing granular poloxalene is preferred over using a free-choice mineral, as more consistent intake is expected. Two pounds of grain with the poloxalene added works great and the grain is good for spring calving cows anyway.

The use of ionophores feed additives has proven effective (Rumensin and Bovatec). Rumensin is more effective than Bovatec in preventing legume bloat and often is the recommended ionophore for bloat control.

If using blocks containing bloat-control feed additives, provide them at the manufacturers recommended rate. If a free-choice mineral is to be used, ensure the mineral remains fresh and dry, and encourage intake by placing multiple feeders in the pasture. Placing products containing feed additives near watering and loafing areas will also encourage intake.

When cattle graze lush plants capable of causing legume bloat, no management practices will ensure bloat doesn't occur. The following management strategies can, however, reduce its incidence:

- Grow grass-legume mixtures instead of pure legumes
- Avoid grazing very immature white clover or alfalfa
- Put animals on lush legume pastures only when plants are free of surface moisture (dew or rain)
- Provide access to water and minerals
- Provide a full feeding of hay before turning animals into lush legume stands for the first time
- Do not remove animals from pasture during first signs of bloat. Continuous grazing results in less incidence of bloat than removal and return
- Observe animals closely following any abrupt change in the weather
- Feed bloat-reducing compounds

For livestock managers, legume-induced bloat should be a concern, but it should not be feared, because it can be managed to minimize losses while at the same time improving animal performance.

FSA reminds producers of CRP deadline

Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director John W. McCauley reminds landowners, farmers and ranchers that the opportunity to enroll in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up 43 ends on Friday, April 6. Producers who want to offer eligible land for CRP's competitive general sign-up may enroll at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) county office where their farm records are maintained.

CRP is a voluntary program available to agricultural producers to help them use environmentally sensitive land for conservation benefits. Producers enrolled in CRP plant long-term, resource-conserving covers to improve the quality of water, control soil erosion and develop wildlife habitat. In return, USDA provides participants with rental payments and cost-share assistance. Contract duration is between 10 and 15 years. Producers with expiring contracts and producers with environmentally sensitive land are encouraged to evaluate their options under

CRP.

CRP has a 25-year legacy of successfully protecting the nation's natural resources through voluntary participation, while providing significant economic and environmental benefits to rural communities across the United States. Currently, about 30 million acres are enrolled in CRP.

CRP continues to make major contributions to national efforts to improve water and air quality, prevent soil erosion by protecting the most sensitive areas including those prone to flash flooding and runoff. At the same time, CRP has helped increase populations of pheasants, quail, ducks, and other rare species, like the sage grouse, the lesser prairie chicken, and others. Highlights of CRP include:

•CRP has restored more than two million acres of wetlands and two million acres of riparian buffers;

•Each year, CRP keeps more than 600 million pounds of nitrogen and more than 100 million pounds of phosphorous from flowing into our nation's streams, rivers, and lakes.

National Dairy Show to be held in Louisville

Kentucky National Dairy Show and Sale will celebrate its 50th anniversary during the 2012 edition April 13-14 at the Kentucky Exposition Center in Louisville.

In 1963, George Buchanan, then the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's director of shows and fairs, created the event to encourage Kentucky dairy breeders to buy and sell animals. The event was intended to promote and support the dairy industry in Kentucky and on a global scale. It has succeeded over the past five decades by attracting high-profile animals from breeders across the nation, including a number of national champions that have crossed the auction block.

The two-day event is free and open to the public. Five breeds will be shown and sold: Ayrshire, Guernsey, Holstein, Jersey, and Milking Shorthorn.

"This time-honored tradition will not only feature some top consignments in the industry but will also showcase and remember those great cow and farm families that have been involved since its inception," said Katherine Wheatley, dairy coordinator in the KDA's Division of Show and Fair Promotion. "The support and passion shown by our consignors and buyers over the last 50 years is truly remarkable."

The Kentucky Purebred Dairy Cattle Association Judging School is at 2 p.m. Thursday, April 12, the day before the Kentucky National Show and Sale.

The Kentucky National will commemorate its 50th anniversary at a dinner April 13 at 7 p.m. in the exposition center's pavilion.

The Lincoln County High School chapter of Future Business Leaders win awards at the Region 6 conference held at Eastern Kentucky University in March.

Lincoln FBLA excels at Region 6 event

By Brent Adams
FBLA Reporter

The Lincoln County High School chapter of Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) traveled to Eastern Kentucky University on March 14 for the Region 6 FBLA Conference and came home with a load of hardware.

Hours of preparation and planning paid off for nine Lincoln County FBLA members as they brought home seven top three awards, qualifying them for state competition in Louisville next month. The Lincoln representatives garnered four first-place awards, one second and two thirds.

The following students qualified for the state conference which will be held at the Galt House April 23-25:

Business Calculations: 1st place Cody Barnes.

Job Interview: 1st place Alex Bunch.

Business Law: 1st place Haley Reichenbach.

Personal Finance: 1st place Chance Bender.

FBLA Procedures and Principles: 2nd place

Mckenzie Harris.

Video Production: 3rd place Jonathon Hardwick and Chase McWhorter.

Marketing: 3rd place Tanner Leigh and Daniel Cain.

Blake Henderson, Jacob Gourley and Brent Adams competed in Business Presentation and made it to the second round, but did not place in the top three.

In addition to the awards, Kayla Upchurch was elected Region 6 Secretary for the 2012-13 school year.

The LCHS FBLA chapter had 23 members in attendance at the regional conference, those members were: Mackenzie Harris, Erin Nickells, Cody Barnes, Levi Barnett, Chase McWhorter, Christian Poynter, Daniel Cain, Tanner Leigh, Jonathon Hardwick, Blake Henderson, Jacob Gourley, Morgan High, Alex Bunch, Kayla Upchurch, Dalton Godbey, Brent Adams, Chance Bender, Stephanie Downs, Haley Reichenbach, Taylor Faulkner, Katie Cain, Sarah Delany and Scott Castle.

Kayla Upchurch was elected as Region 6 Secretary for the 2012-13 year.

Rogers Scholars Program conducting annual fund-raising campaign

Want to win a luxurious houseboat vacation on scenic Lake Cumberland?

Would you like to support young people in your community who receive college scholarship and leadership opportunities through the annual Rogers Scholars summer youth leadership program?

With The Center for Rural Development's Houseboat Vacation fundraising campaign, you can do both!

Tickets are now on sale for a chance to win a Lake Cumberland houseboat vacation – valued at up to $3,500 plus a $200 fuel allowance – as the grand prize in a regional fund-raising campaign benefitting the region's next generation of future leaders and entrepreneurs.

Each $5 ticket sold through the Houseboat Vacation campaign will support The Center's flagship youth program, Rogers Scholars. The program gives rising high school juniors an opportunity to build their leadership skills and get access to exclusive scholarship opportunities from 16 colleges and universities.

Tickets for the Houseboat Vacation may be purchased by calling The Center at (606) 677-6000, emailing youth@centertech.com, or stopping by The Center, located at 2292 South U.S. 27 (at traffic light 15) in Somerset, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

This is the fourth year The Center and the Rogers Scholars program have partnered with Conley Bottom Resort Marina in Monticello to offer a houseboat vacation on Lake Cumberland, one of the nation's largest manmade lakes and top tourist destinations in Southern Kentucky.

Rogers Scholars is provided free of charge to participating students within The Center's 42-county primary service area in Southern and Eastern Kentucky. It is supported solely through financial contributions, fundraising events, and program supporters.

"We challenge students to build their leadership skills and reach their full potential as the region's next generation of business and entrepreneurial leaders," Lonnie Lawson, president and CEO of The Center, said. "By buying a chance in this fundraiser, you can be a part of The Center's efforts to help these young people fulfill their dreams and plan for a successful future."

For additional information, email youth@centertech.com or visit The Center's website at www.centertech.com. Follow The Center's Facebook page at http://www.facebook.com/centercd to keep up with the latest news and events at The Center.

The winning ticket will be drawn Friday, July 13, on the graduation day of the second and final class of 2012 Rogers Scholars. The winner does not need to be present to win, and will be notified by phone. Dates and availability of the vacation package are subject to approval of the marina owners.

Kids Can Do Pediatric Center offers camps

Kids Can Do Pediatric Therapy Center, a service of Ephraim McDowell Health, is sponsoring Camp Can Do, a summer day camp for children with special needs. The camp will be held over a two-week period with the first week reserved for campers ages 5 to 10 and the second week reserved for campers ages 11 to 20.

"Camp Can Do is the only local summer day camp for children with special needs," said Vanessa Hazelwood, a licensed occupational therapist at Kids Can Do, who helped organize the camp. "We have modified and adapted the camp activities so each of the campers can be successful."

The first session of Camp Can Do will be held at Wilderness Trace Child Development Center in Danville, beginning June 18 and continuing through June 21. The second session will be held at Camp Horsin' Around in Perryville, beginning June 25 and continuing through June 28. Camp sessions last three hours each day and include a variety of activities such as water play, sensory crafts, language games, nature activities, archery, fishing and animal interaction. All activities are designed and led by licensed occupational, physical and speech therapists. Parents are welcome to stay during each session and socialize with other parents and camp staff.

To increase success, each camper has their own buddy who provides one-on-one attention and assistance during all camp activities. Those buddies are volunteers recruited from area high schools, colleges, Southern Kentucky Area Health Education Center and Ephraim McDowell Health Associates.

For more information, call Kids Can Do Pediatric Therapy Center at (859) 239-6670.

LINCOLN'S Alex Andes, Mary-Grace Luscher and Boo Smith submitted the fourth-place project in the state's KACTE Entrepreneurship Contest.

Lincoln team fourth in KACTE Entrepreneurship state contest

FRANKFORT, Ky. - Lincoln County's team of Alex Andes, Mary-Grace Luscher and Boo Smith placed fourth in the inaugural Kentucky Association for Career and Technical Education (KACTE) Entrepreneurship Contest.

As one of the top teams in the event, which was sponsored by the KACTE and coordinated by the state advisors of the Career and Technical Education Student Organizations to promote entrepreneurial skills, Andes, Luscher and Smith split a cash prize of $250.

Their proposal was to start a new business called Thoroughbred Bakery. They created a video and executive summary as part of their proposal. They were recognized for their fourth-place finish at the KACTE Student Leadership Day in Frankfort.

The purpose of the event was to challenge high school career and technical education students to develop a plan for an entrepreneurial business. Students were required to submit an online video as well as a one page executive summary of their business plan.

The videos were to be designed to provide information on the business plan to potential investors. Both the videos and the executive summaries were evaluated by a panel of outside judges.

The winning KACTE project was submitted by Caleb Brannon of Calloway County High School. Brannon developed a proposal to expand and grow his business: Brannon Agri-Energy, where he would produce switch grass for biofuels production. He received $1000 as the top entrant.

Molley Scott of Hart County High School submitted the second-place project. Her proposal was to start a new business: Scott's Select Country Hams. She received a prize of $750.

The third-place project was submitted by Georgia James, Ashley Carneal, and Katrice Frazier of Eastern High School in Jefferson County. They split a cash prize of $500.

Local students accept merit-based scholarships to ECU

Hundreds of incoming freshmen and transfer students already have accepted merit-based scholarships to attend Eastern Kentucky University.

Lincoln County recipients include:

- Savanah Austin, Stanford, Boyle County High School, Presidential Scholarship
- Tyler Elmore, Stanford, Lincoln County High School, Regents Scholarship
- Taylor Fisher, Stanford, Lincoln County High School, Regents Scholarship
- Jacob Rhodus, Waynesburg, Somerset High School, Regents Scholarship
- Jacklyn Wahl, Waynesburg, Colonel Plus Scholarship

"These students have found programs here at ECU that meet their needs academically, therefore Eastern is doing all it can to help them achieve their dreams financially through our merit-based scholarship program," said Brett Morris, interim director of admissions at the university. "The process is much easier now because students are granted these scholarships automatically if they qualify. There's no need for a separate application."

Students who qualify for merit-based scholarships have until May 1 to accept them, Morris said. (Additional scholarship recipients will be announced later.)

The Excellence Award, Founders Award, Regents Scholarship, Presidential Scholarship and Merit Scholarship are for incoming high school freshmen. The Colonel, Colonel Plus, Maroon and Maroon Plus scholarships are for incoming transfer students.

For more information about all the scholarships available to ECU students, visit scholarships.eku.edu or call the university's Scholarship Office at (859) 622-8032.

DANIEL BOONE, who has a larger-than-life reputation as an intrepid explorer and natural leader, schooled students at Crab Orchard Elementary on the specifics of his life from his exploration and settlement of Kentucky to his service as a delegate of the Virginia Assembly while visiting the school as part of Kentucky Chautauqua's "Telling Kentucky's Story." Boone (portrayed by Scott New) shared many interesting facts about his life during the visit, including the fact that he never wore a coonskin cap. He first began seriously exploring Kentucky in 1769 and in 1775 led the expedition that founded Boonesboro in present-day Madison County. Some of his most famous exploits soon followed: the rescue of his daughter from Indian kidnappers; his own escape from captivity to warn Fort Boonesborough of an impending attack; leading the defense of the fort against a nine-day Shawnee siege. He died in 1820.

Farmers National Bank empowers fifth grade students with financial information

Farmers National Bank has announced a new initiative to bring financial literacy education to fifth grade students across Boyle, Garrard, Lincoln and Mercer counties by providing them with access to the Vault Financial Literacy Platform. This web-based program which will be entitled "The Farmers National Bank Financial Scholars Program" incorporates multiple evidence-based learning theories to build students' knowledge and skill sets for making good financial decisions at a young age. Through the Vault, students will develop the foundation needed to help them become more informed, responsible citizens. Farmers National Bank has partnered with EverFi, Inc. to bring the interactive financial management program to these 5th grade students at no cost to the schools.

Lincoln County Superintendent Karen Hatter stated, "Lincoln County Schools appreciate the opportunity for our students to participate in the Farmers National Bank Financial Scholars Program. It is being implemented with fifth grade students across the district. The program gives students realistic situations that require them to make important decisions with money. Lessons focus on budgeting, saving for the future and the value of saving and investing. It is a valuable program and we appreciate Farmers National Bank and EverFi's support and contribution to our schools."

The Vault platform offers 2.5 hours of programming in a unique, interactive environment that covers saving, budgeting, responsibility and decision-making, credit and debt, careers, income, charity and more. The course features interactive lessons, games and story-based activities that challenge kids to make choices in real-life scenarios to best achieve important goals around saving and job planning.

"Farmers National Bank is once again making a significant investment in all of its communities within Boyle, Garrard, Lincoln and Mercer counties. We are committed to investing in the youth of Central Kentucky," stated President, Greg Caudill.

Farmers National Bank, a community owned bank since 1879, has banking facilities in Burgin, Danville, Harrodsburg, Junction City, Perryville, Stanford and Lancaster.

EverFi is the leading education technology platform company to teach, assess and certify students in critical skills including Financial Literacy, Student Loan Management, Digital Literacy and Health and Wellness, and additional product areas to be announced in early 2012. The company is already powering a national movement in 50 states that enables students to learn using the latest technology, including rich media, gaming, high-definition video and simulations. EverFi teams with major corporations and foundations to provide the programs at no costs to schools. To date, more than three million students have completed EverFi learning platforms.
